

Riding Groups Explained

C (Novice) Group

C Group is tailored to people new(ish) to the track environment or those just looking for a more relaxed pace for the day. Students are paired with an instructor along with 1 or 2 other students. After lunch you will have the option to stay close to your instructor, ride on your own, or a combination of the two. The academics focus on the foundational aspect of riding a motorcycle, body position, apexes, brakes, throttle, and vision. We automatically put all first-time track riders in this group to give you time to acclimate to the new environment.

B (Intermediate) Group

B Group is our Intermediate group where we take the basics presented in the C Group academics and expand on them. The pace is faster than the C Group, but you will still be paired with an instructor and 1-2 other students throughout the day. Students are led around for the first 2 sessions, and by the third session of the day you will have the option to stay close to your instructor or ride on your own if you prefer.

A (Advanced) Group

We allow the most freedom in A Group. The academics are more focused on riding faster with precision, and while we have instructors on track, the students and instructors are not formally paired for the day. We still keep a tight rein on track etiquette, making sure everyone is riding in a safe, controlled manner.
